

Elizabeth
UNIQUE VENICE
Venice, Italy

EH Venice is located on the Cannaregio Canal in the historic district of the same name. It's famous for its traditional wine bars and local trattorias, and is home to the world's oldest Jewish ghetto.

Elizabeth Unique Venice used the architectural style of a typical 17th-century Venetian palazzo. Ceilings are beautifully restored utilizing the original wooden beams, while furnishings are more contemporary. Each of the 14 rooms is distinguished by its own unique design and features a soft refined palette with Venetian Terrazzo. The property is also a true living gallery. Just like at sister property Elizabeth Rome, guests enjoy a curated collection of contemporary artworks displayed throughout the property. This is made possible by a long standing collaboration with Gallerie Russo.

Da Grandma, is located within the same architectural structure and has seating both inside, and outside in the charming courtyard garden. Cuisine is authentic and refined, featuring traditional Italian recipes through a contemporary and elegant lens.
